CHAPTER 3. DOMESTIC GEOGRAPHIC NAMES POLICIES

Policy III. Commemorative Names

Human influence on the land has taken many forms. One of the more prominent forms has been the association of people's names with the landscape. This has resulted in the adoption of many personal names and nicknames for identifying geographic features, such as mountains and streams.

Sec. 1 The BGN will consider proposals to apply names or nicknames of deceased persons to geographic features in the United States and areas under its jurisdiction. The BGN will only accept proposals for names that are intended to honor a person or persons deceased at least five years. The BGN will disapprove names that could be construed to honor living persons.

Sec. 2 The person being honored should have had either some direct or long-term association with the feature, or have made a significant contribution to the area, community, or State in which it is located.

Sec. 3 A proposal commemorating an individual with outstanding national or international recognition may be approved even if the person was not directly associated with the geographic feature.

Sec. 4 A proposal to revise or eliminate an existing personal commemorative name will usually be disapproved unless the proponent presents a compelling justification.

Sec. 5 The BGN discourages the use of an individual's full name in a feature name. Exceptions are occasionally made to avoid ambiguity (see Policy IX. Long Names, Sec. 2).

Sec. 6 Commemorative name proposals must meet the same basic criteria required of other name proposals.

Guidelines

A proposal to commemorate an individual should include evidence of local support for the proposed name and its application. Such evidence may be in the form of letters from the appropriate governing authorities and local residents, as well as, where appropriate, from historical societies, service organizations, etc.

The proponent must provide biographical information about the intended honoree(s), including his/her full name(s), death date(s), and evidence of any association with the feature proposed for naming (e.g., any evidence of local civic contribution). If the intended honoree has not been deceased at least five years, the proposal will be returned to the proponent with a request that it be resubmitted once the waiting period has passed.

CHAPTER 3. DOMESTIC GEOGRAPHIC NAMES POLICIES

Examples of past decisions by the BGN have indicated “direct association” or “significant contribution” when the person being commemorated was:

- an early or long-time resident,
- a developer, restorer, or maintainer of the feature,
- a donor of land to local, State, Tribal, or Federal governments, and
- a person who played a large part in protecting the land for public benefit.

A person’s death on or at a feature, such as in a mountaineering accident or automobile or plane crash, does not necessarily meet the “direct association” criterion.

The BGN recognizes that personal names are often linked to an individual or family whose name has come to be associated with the feature. Commemoration in these cases may be appropriate. Ownership or management of the land or the feature may not meet the “significant contribution” criterion.

This policy does not apply to proposals for pets (nonhumans) (see Policy XII. Animal Names).

CHAPTER 3. DOMESTIC GEOGRAPHIC NAMES POLICIES

Policy IX. Long Names

The BGN has historically avoided long geographic names. Although the BGN does not specifically define what constitutes an unacceptably long name, if the name's length makes it difficult or cumbersome to convey, then the BGN will usually disapprove it. For reference, other Federal agencies do have specific policies, such as the U.S. Postal Service, which limits the names of post offices to 28 characters.

Sec. 1 In general, the BGN will disapprove overly long names.

Sec. 2 The BGN discourages the use of an individual's full name in a feature name. Exceptions are occasionally made to avoid ambiguity.

Sec. 3 To avoid overly long stream names, the BGN will approve names of tributaries as official names without reference to their parent stream. Exceptions are occasionally made to avoid ambiguity.

Guidelines

When the BGN considers a proposed name to be overly long, the BGN will confer with the proponent and request a shorter form. For example, in 2008 the BGN received a proposal for the name Rear Admiral Richard E. Bennis Reach for an unnamed channel in South Carolina. This name was deemed important for navigation purposes, but its length would obscure other critical information portrayed on nautical charts. As a result, the BGN requested that the proponent submit a shorter form. To accommodate both the commemorative intent of the name as well as its practical application, the revised name Bennis Reach was accepted by the BGN as the official name for Federal use.

As examples of exceptions, in accordance with Sec. 2, the BGN has approved long names to commemorate individuals, using more than the surname so as to avoid ambiguity and make the referent person unmistakable. Examples include Walter E. Long Lake (TX), Claude Birdseye Point (AZ), and George R. Stewart Peak (CA).

As examples of exceptions in accordance with Sec. 3, the BGN has approved long names of stream forks or branches that might be regarded as incomplete unless the names of their main streams were included. Examples include East Fork North Fork North Fork American River (CA) and North Fork of Middle Fork American River (CA).
